WHAT IS COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS?

Community Connections introduces incoming students to the University's core purpose of "strengthening society through engaged teaching and learning".

Student Community leaders facilitate pre-service orientation, two days of service, and post-service reflection.

WHY SHOULD I PARTICIPATE?

This is a wonderful opportunity to become familiar with the campus, discover the local community, dig into the issues that impact our neighbors, and learn about YOU as a leader in the community.

WHO WILL I MEET?

Community leaders, returning students who know our campus and community well, look forward to sharing their insights. You will also work alongside up to 50 other incoming students plus local leaders who run community organizations.

WHAT WILL I DO?

After participating in pre-service orientation, you will head out into the community for two days of service at a local non-profit. You might be painting, sorting donations, doing landscaping, or playing bingo with residents of a care facility.

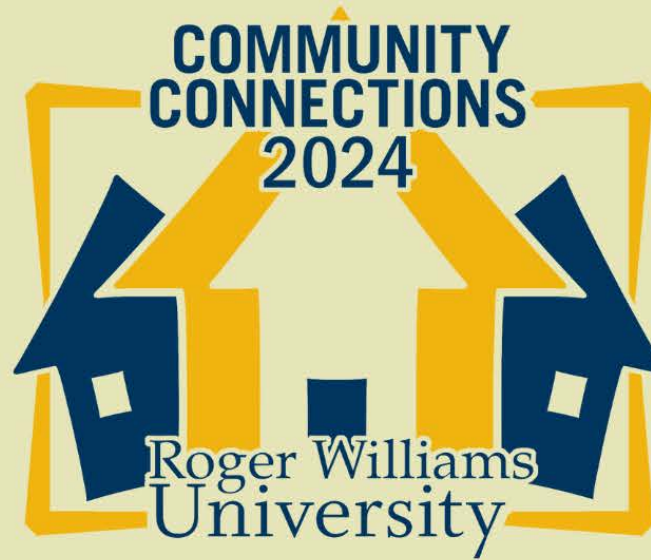

Each day you will engage in reflection to consider what your experience and what it means for you as a person, citizen and scholar. Evenings are for social activities designed to help you become more comfortable on campus and to meet more people!
